

8th Annual United Nations Conference on Teaching Peace and Human Rights

Special Focus: The Future We Want:
*A Better World through Human Rights Education

Chestnut Hill College

United Nations

Date: Friday, March 15, 2013
Location: Chestnut Hill College/East Parlor
Time: 9:30AM to 2:30PM

++++
Are you aware of what is happening in human rights education? What are your colleagues around the world teaching and doing about human rights? How can you be involved in human rights education to help make the world a better place?
 +++++

About the Conference: This one day conference is for teachers, future teachers, administrators and NGOs for a global dialogue on the importance of human rights education to help achieve the better world we all want.

- Meet and interact with Stephanie Hodge, Education Program Specialist/UNICEF and international human rights educator Rayla Melchor Santos (Teacher Sam) from the I Am Sam Foundation. She is founder of Cyber Kids Best and Director, C.L.A.P. (HK and China). She will speak on her work with students and teachers (K-12). Also meet special guest Ellen Torrey, former aide to Eleanor Roosevelt, whose leadership brought us the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.
- Participate in an international videoconference on how to get the future we all want.
- Work with educators from Canada, Kenya, Mexico, the Philippines, South Sudan, Uganda, the US, and more, to move your human rights awareness from words to deeds.
- Be invited to present your outcomes in 2014 at the United Nations and to the world.
- Various prizes will be given related to human rights education.
- Receive a Certificate of Participation for your involvement in this five hour event.

Conference Fee: $25 (includes lunch, human rights resources and global connections)

For more information and to register contact:

Global Education Motivators
 Chestnut Hill College
 9601 Germantown Ave
 Philadelphia, PA 19118
 215-248-1150
 1-877-451-7925
 gem@chc.edu

